

-102 H.323 TERMINAL MULTICAST MULTICAST STREAM STREAM 101--103 SIGNALING H.323 H.323 MULTICAST TERMINAL TERMINAL STREAM SIGNALING SIGNALING 108 MC

FIG. 1B

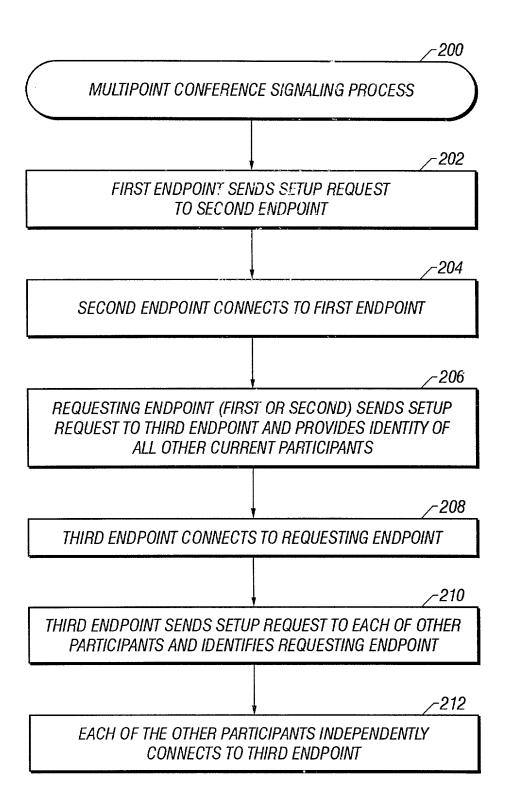

FIG. 2

```
300
 H323-UU-PDU::=SEQUENCE
       h323-message-body CHOICE
                                                      Setuc-UUIE,
        setup
        callProceeding
                                                      CallProceeding-UUIE,
                                                      Connect-UUIE.
        connect
        alerting
                                                      Alerting-UUIE,
        information
                                                      Information-UUIE,
                                                                                                          304
        releasecomplete
                                                      ReleaseComplete-UUIE,
                                                      Facility-UU!E,
        facility
                                                      Progress-UUIE,
        progress
                                                      NULL--used when a FACILITY message is sent,
        empty
                                                           --but the Facility-UUIE is not to be invoked
        },
                                                           --(possible when transporting supplementary
                                                           -- services messages)
305-
                                                      NonStandardParameter OPTIONAL
        `nonStandardData
                                                      SEQUENCE OF OCTET STRING OPTIONAL
         h4501SupplementaryService
                                                           --each sequence of octet string is defined as one
                                                           --h4501SupplementaryService APDU as defined
                                                           --in Table 3/H.450.1
         h245Tunneling
                                                      BOOLEAN.
                                                           --if TRUE, tunneling of H.245 messages is enabled h245Control
                                                      SEQUENCE OF OCTET STRING OPTIONAL
                                                           --each octet string may contain exactly
                                                           --one H.245 PDU
                                                      SEQUENCE OF NonStandardParameter OPTIONAL
        nonStandardcontrol
```

4/5

```
308
        NonStandardParameter::=SEQUENCE
     310 — nonStandardIdentifier
                                                     NonStandardidentifier,
     312 \ data
                                                      OCTET STRING
         NonStandardIdentifier
                                                      ::=CHOICE
     316—object
                                                      OBJECT IDENTIFIER,
     318—h221NonStandard
                                                      H221NonStandard,
320
        (OCTET STRING)
        AliasAddress::=CHOICE
              e164
                                           IA5String (SIZE(1..128)) (FROM ("0123456789No.*,")),
              h323-ID
                                            BMPString (SIZE(1..256)),
                                                                      --Basic ISO/IEC 10646-1 (Unicode)
     324
              url-ID
                                            IA5String (SIZE(1.512)),
                                                                       -- URL style address
                                            TransportAddress
              tranportID
                                            IA5String (SIZE(1..512)),
              email-ID
                                                                       --rfc822-complaint email address
               partyNumber PartyNumber
                                          FIG. 3A-2
                               326
                               SetupDistributedMPNonStandardParamter::=CHOICE
                            328—Also::=SEQUENCE
                                          331-
rminalAlias SEQUENCE OF AliasAddress
          320~
        [OCTET STRING]
                             332
                                     RequestedBy::=SEQUENCE
                                               333-
                                        terminalAlias SÈQUENCE OF AliasAddress
```

FIG. 3B

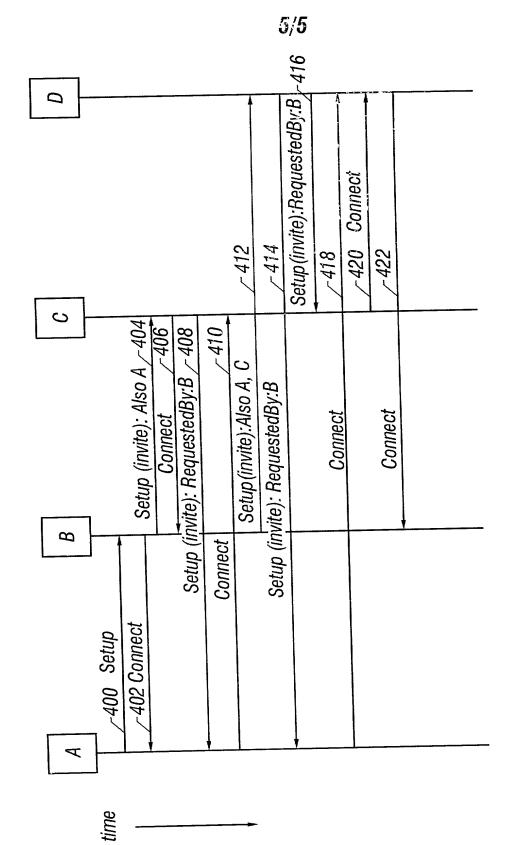

FIG. 4